From Unstructured Data to Actionable Intelligence

The OSINT platform empowering security, business and intelligence professionals to make sense of the overwhelming amount of data on the web.

Silobreaker is a powerful intelligence platform that collects and contextualises unstructured data from over a million sources. Organisations around the globe harness Silobreaker's innovative technology to extract actionable intelligence on the multitude of threats, risks, incidents and opportunities faced by their business.

Delivering at every stage of the intelligence cycle

Aggregate

Silobreaker collects and aggregates data from nearly a million external open sources as well as proprietary and paid for sources. This includes news, blogs, feeds, social, research, press releases and reports in 18 languages.

Contextualise

The platform uses data fusion techniques and machine learning algorithms to process, contextualise and bring meaning to unstructured data that allows the user to make better-informed decisions, faster.

Visualise

You can view the results of your investigations in charts and other useful visualisations, making it easier to analyse and interpret information, and present the findings to other stakeholders.

Disseminate

Silobreaker is an intelligence tool built for collaboration. All Silobreaker content, including visualisations, can be incorporated into company reports or email alerts, ensuring complete integration with your team's workflow.
